BOARD TO OPEN INVESTIGATION TUESDAY

Propose $4,516,880 Budget For SNU - 125 Additional Faculty Members Planned

University President Chester P. Lay and Business Manager Edward V. Miles, Jr., appeared before the General Assembly's Budgetary Committee on Tuesday to "argue the case" for the new four- and one-half million dollar proposed budget for Southern.

The new $4,516,880 proposed budget, which has been approved by the State Teachers College Board, would provide $913,922 for the addition of 23 full professors, 34 associate professors, 33 assistant professors, 13 instructors and 16 faculty assistants.

Among these new appointments would be specialists who would develop training programs in such fields as anthropology, folklore, forestry, geology, photography, recreation, social service work, visual education, clinical psychology, art in laboratory schools, bacteriology, dairying, dietetics, farm management, finance, horticulture, institutional management, marketing, mineralogy and mine operations, philosophy, psychology, vocational drawing and vocational machine shop.

Some work in many of these subjects has been available, but it is proposed to bring in at least one expert in each of these particular subjects, and in some cases several.

Since the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and the College of Vocations and Professions are Southern's newest branches, many of the new teaching positions will be in these colleges.

The College of Education, however, is also slated for considerable expansion, with the proposed addition of 17 new staff members.

Expansion is also contemplated for existing departments such as art, English, foreign language, journalism, economics, home economics, sociology, Latin-American Studies, and others.

Research will come into new prominence under the new budget, if it is authorized, since it provides for a full-time specialist in anthropological research, a full-time specialist in biological research, two additions to the Museum staff, and ten faculty fellowships for research in regional and other subjects.

MU TAU PI WILL INITIATE MEMBERS

Mu Tau Pi, honorary journalistic fraternity, is holding its winter banquet at the cafeteria, Tuesday evening, January 21, 6:30 p.m.

At that time, new members will be taken into the fraternity on active membership status. Eligibility for membership is based on work done on campus publications.

At a recent meeting, Robert McDowell was elected vice-president and Helen Holmes was named secretary-treasurer of the fraternity.

Kesner Inaugurates Music Listening Hour

Dr. Maurice Kesner, chairman of the music department, has inaugurated a music listening hour each Tuesday and Thursday from 4 to 5 in his office. He will play records which are not very well known and will feature 20th century American composers.

There will be no programs on days when there are faculty meetings. All students are invited to attend.

Little Theatre Will Sponsor Contest

A one-act play contest, open to all organizations on campus is being sponsored by the members of the Little Theatre, Kathryn Alley, president, announces.

Preliminary contests will be held on February 3, 4, and 5, from which three plays will be selected for the final contest on February 7.

The outstanding actor, actress, and the members of the winning cast will be awarded medals. The winning organization will be presented a trophy to be retained on an annual basis until one organization shall have won it three times.

Collections of one-act plays are available in the speech department office and may be checked out for three days at a time.

The following rules were drawn up by the committee in charge of the one-act play contest:

1. Participation in the contest shall be open to any student organization on the campus (including organized clubs).

2. Any regular full time student carrying at least 12 hours work shall be eligible to participate.

3. At least two-thirds of the cast shall be bona fide members of the organization presenting the play.

4. Each organization shall be responsible for the cost of production, including royalty. The Little Theatre will pay the royalties on the three plays selected for the final night's production.

5. The time for production shall not exceed 45 minutes from clear stage to clear stage.

6. The cyclorama curtain shall be used for all plays. (No box set).

7. The entire responsibility for production will rest with the organization.

Maverick, professor of economics, emphasized the international complications resulting from the Russian movements toward gaining outlets to the sea in his discussion on "The Russian Imperialist Program" last night at the first of the series of forum meetings dealing with international problems currently being sponsored by the Independent Student Union.

Dr. Maverick pointed out that Russia's plans for control of the Baltic peninsula, the port city of Trieste, the Dardanelles Straits, Aegean Sea, and other strategic approaches to "warm water" will bring about problems and conflicts of world wide significance.

Lewis Watts, freshman from East St. Louis, served as student chairman of the forum.

Next Thursday in the second of the series, Dr. Frank Klineberg, associate professor of government, will speak on "The Denazification of Germany" in the Little Theatre at 8 p.m. Julius Swayne will be student chairman.

Paul Swearingen Tells of Radio 'Hams' Who Operate Stations in Carbondale

By Fred O. Croninger

One of the "ham" operators located in Carbondale is Southern student, Paul Swearingen, who stated that these operators possess sets capable of contacting any station in the United States and a few outside the continental limits of the states.

Some of these sets are so constructed that their nearest point of communications would be as distant as California. Stations in Southern America are contacted regularly. During a recent flood in this area, "ham" stations at Carbondale, Harrisburg, and Metropolis, relayed emergency messages for the Red Cross and were instrumental in helping with rescue work.

"Amateur radio forms a large reserve of well-trained communications men who would be useful if war should ever come again," Swearingen said. "I believe any concern of atomic warfare should include the role of radio," he added.

Southern is well represented among camps that communicate daily. Other universities participating are Purdue, Kansas, Wisconsin, Ohio, and Eastern Illinois State Teachers at Charleston. The information exchanged between these operators is instructive to students and helps spread the names and attributes of the various universities.

Bill Introduced To Change School Name To SIU

Legislation to change the name of Southern Illinois Normal University to Southern Illinois University was filed by Sen. R. G. Cranberry (R) Murphysboro, Monday.

Cranberry said the bill would not give Southern any more authority than it now has and would not change the present governing board. No action was taken on the measures pending assignment to a committee later.

The topic of discussion will be "Problems of School Reorganization in Illinois."

Mr. Hughes has been selected as speaker because of the active part he has taken in the current school improvement program in the state and because of the consolidation experiment he is conducting this year in his county.

This chapter of the Future Teachers of America is sponsoring a series of informal discussions of students and faculty members for the purpose of studying major school needs in Illinois. Hearing Will Be Held Behind Closed Doors

Investigation of Southern's administration by the State Teachers College Board will be carried on behind closed doors according to a statement made by Chairman Frank Thompson last Tuesday. Members of the press in addition to the general public will be excluded from the hearing which is to be held at the Roberts hotel on January 21 following the regular business session of the Board on Southern's campus, January 20.

According to Mr. Thompson, the closed door policy was adopted to protect those persons who may appear before the Board to testify in the hearing which is intended to determine the efficiency of President Chester P. Lay. Asked if members of the faculty and others who appear before the Board will be protected from future reprisals, Mr. Thompson also stated that "anyone who comes into the hearing is under no obligation."

Richard Dunn of Bloomington, an attorney and board member, will be in charge of the investigation.

PRES. RENDLEMAN CRITICIZES CLOSED DOOR POLICY

Disapproval of the State Teachers College Board's closed door policy, which that body has announced will be effective at its investigation of the "situation" on January 21, was voiced yesterday by Mr. Russell Rendleman, president of the Southern Division, Illinois Education Association. Mr. Rendleman stated, "The hearing should be open to the public and anything that is said or done should be released to the public. There is no way the situation at SINC can be better or more quickly clarified than to have the hearing open to the public."

Mr. Rendleman also expressed the opinion that the public has little faith in the State Teachers College Board and that it will give little consideration to the board's recommendations and suggestions unless they are made public to be done behind closed doors.

The Daily Independent also quoted an unnamed former faculty member as terming the policy "ridiculous and saying that 'everybody is entitled to know what the administration should be made public through the hearing.'"

Meanwhile it has been heard from unofficial sources that the Board recently sent out a number of letters warning the students of the Southern Division, Illinois Education Association, and secretary of the Board, to several former faculty members and others asking them to submit any data or information which they might have for presentation to the Board, deadline for receipt of these communications was set for today.

Evidence of the importance of the meeting is the fact that there are 25 reservations on file at the Roberts Hotel for about 100 new members and others. One reservation is for Dr. Persival Bailey, president of the Southern Alumni Association, who opposed the action of the board and directors of the alumni group at their luncheon meeting here. It is understood that Dr. Bailey, the directors of the Alumni Association, and others closely concerned with Southern have received special invitations to testify before the Board.

According to an alumni officer, Dr. Bailey is not authorized to speak before the Board for that association or its directors.

Pi Omega Pi Elects Officers

The local chapter of Pi Omega Pi at its regular meeting last Wednesday afternoon elected Lewis Vance Meyers, of Metropolis, president; Mary Parsons, of West Frankfort, vice president; and Ydella Doolin, of Harrisburg, secretary-treasurer.

Pi Omega Pi is the national business education fraternity. Leonard Keefe of the commerce department is faculty sponsor.

Investigation of Southern's Administration by the State Teachers College Board

Investigation of Southern's administration by the State Teachers College Board will be carried on behind closed doors according to a statement made by Chairman Frank Thompson last Tuesday. Members of the press in addition to the general public will be excluded from the hearing which is to be held at the Roberts hotel on January 21 following the regular business session of the Board on Southern's campus, January 20.

According to Mr. Thompson, the closed door policy was adopted to protect those persons who may appear before the Board to testify in the hearing which is intended to determine the efficiency of President Chester P. Lay. Asked if members of the faculty and others who appear before the Board will be protected from future reprisals, Mr. Thompson also stated that "anyone who comes into the hearing is under no obligation."

Richard Dunn of Bloomington, an attorney and board member, will be in charge of the investigation.

Considerable criticism of the closed door policy has been heard from various persons interested in the investigation of the "situation," according to newspaper write-ups of the announcement.

Timor, who contended that the meeting of the Board would be merely a whitewash session are said to argue that this action is conclusive proof that such was the actual purpose of the Board. Others have been quoted as saying that they would refuse to present testimony if they were deprived of the protection of a public hearing.

Investigation the Result of Much Criticism

The investigation by the Board is the result of a request by the Southern Alumni Association for an impartial investigation of the "situation" by the Teachers College Board. Previously the State Teachers Association of the Southern Division, Illinois Education Association, had voted to appoint a committee to confer with Dr. Lay on the "adverse publicity" which the Southern Division had prevailed throughout this area. In addition, 500 veterans had signed a petition requesting Gov. Green to remove Dr. Lay from office charging the president with inefficiency. The editor of the Egyptian Key had also printed an editorial strongly urging Dr. Lay's resignation.

The press release from Springfield which announced the hearing, stated that the hearing would be held at the Roberts Hotel on January 21, at the Roberts Hotel in Carbondale.

"The State Teachers College Board announced today the special hearing on 'unfavorable publicity' about Southern Illinois Normal University at Carbondale on January 21, 9:30 a.m. of Tuesday morning, January 21, at the Roberts Hotel in Carbondale."

"The Board will meet Monday, January 20, on the campus at Southern but the regular business session of the Board will occupy the first day. It was previously announced the special hearing would begin on Monday."

"All those who desire to be heard, in the manner set forth by the Board in its original announcement of the special investigation, are requested to appear at 9:30 o'clock Tuesday morning or as soon thereafter as possible to avoid delay in the hearing."

The local chapter of Pi Omega Pi at its regular meeting last Wednesday afternoon elected Lewis Vance Meyers, of Metropolis, president; Mary Parsons, of West Frankfort, vice president; and Ydella Doolin, of Harrisburg, secretary-treasurer.

Pi Omega Pi is the national business education fraternity. Leonard Keefe of the commerce department is faculty sponsor.

Neely Advises Teaching Profession To Students Interested In People

By Lois Buff
Quite enthusiastic about her life's career is Mrs. Julia Neely, associate professor of English, who assumed her teaching duties here 19 years ago.

In her own words, she states: "I have really enjoyed my life of teaching, and I always advise people to study teaching if they are interested in people."

Besides her regular teaching duties, she was director of vocations during the years from 1931 to 1936 and again from 1943 to this fall.

Mrs. Neely was also secretary of the Faculty Gift Club. She considers her work with this club one of her most interesting experiences, because of the contact she had with grateful servicemen whom the club had served. Another interesting part of her life was spent managing a U.S.O. club in Norman, Oklahoma.

Although Mrs. Neely was born in Illinois, she has lived most of her life in St. Louis. There she obtained her A. B. and A. M. degrees at Washington University and has done graduate work at St. Louis University, New York University and the University of London.

Besides her interest in dramatics, her main hobby is collecting records. Mrs. Neely states that her tastes in records range over most fields of music, especially the work of Alec Templeton, is her favorite.

Who's Who About Campus

By Ralph Lane

My secret ambition is to join a professional theatrical company, says Johnny Mulkin, listed this year in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges," and outstanding star in Little Theatre productions at Southern. Johnny said the main reason was its nearest to Herrin, his hometown. At present, while attending school, Johnny spends his week ends playing in a dance band, but at the same time is preparing for what he considers a more stable future by majoring in sociology and minoring in government. These subjects will qualify him for a position in the field of personnel administration.

For hobbies Johnny collects phonograph records and also does some creative writing. He likes the movies and likes "anything that is fast moving and has a subtle plot." His favorite actress is Bette Davis and his favorite actor is Paul Henreid. Johnny considers "The Little Foxes" which starred the direction of Prof. Floyd B. Wakeland, associate professor of music.

MRS. JULIA NEELY

When asked what was the greatest change she had noticed between the students of 19 years ago and the students of today, she answered that present day students show greater application to study and more interest in world affairs in general.

During the Christmas holidays, Mrs. Neely became ill and was taken to a hospital in St. Louis. She is now recuperating at the home of her sister in Maplewood, Mo.

Rette Davis, as the best movie he has ever seen.

"When asked what type of girl he likes best, Johnny replied, 'I consider any girl with a sweet smile and bright eyes a real 'frantic' chick. Other than these, however, the characteristics I admire most in girls are cleverness in conversation and conservatism in dress.'"

ADD ABOUT NOTHING MUCH

By Rod Kraatz and Bob Curtis

We have always felt that poetry should be left to those who know something about it, so we have decided to write some.

The following masterpiece of modern rhyme and reason which we wrote in only one week, leaves one laughing and yet filled with the dreadful realization that we were caught to do something about juvenile delinquency.

Cin At Tea
Her hair was like gold. She was lovely for ten. As with lips so bold, She said, "Make mine gin."

Please notice the rhyme scheme in this one. Practically every line rhymes with some other line. We find therein one of the most difficult aspects of writing truly great poetry. So many words don't rhyme with each other.

Sidewalk Sideshow

An ordinary woman was she, Very susceptible to flattery. As she strolled down the street, And everyone she chanced to meet, Did stop, and turn, and even stare, She smiled, and vainly touched her hair.

Poor thing, her lip was showing. Such attention, it had her glowing!

Something For the Beta:

If Southern gets that four and a half million, for expansion, it seems that with that much moola, we might even be able to build a separate building for the beta.

Latest news on the MOM! A bird, reputed to be the mysterious

MOM, was sighted along inverted rolls over Lake Ridgeway. Excited onlookers reported this peculiar "bird" was wearing a Chi Delta pledge pin. (How did that get in this column?)

We have read the wedding announcements in last week's Egyptian three times, and we are still a little bit confused on Who's Whose. Anyway, congratulations to all you people who got married, and to all you people who didn't get married during the recent holidays.

A Murder Story

Last Saturday a murder was committed. No, it was not a human; merely a dog; but it was a murder never-to-be, for a life was snuffed out unnecessarily. The dog was killed when he attempted to run across the street in front of a delivery truck. Had the driver touched the brakes, or had he swerved off slightly, the dog would have escaped without injury. Is our sense of humanitarianism so deficient that we cannot spare one second to preserve a life?

The importance of the story is not that the dog died, but that the dog did not need to die.

EGYPTIAN MEETING

All Egyptian staff members are requested to attend an important meeting in the Egyptian office Monday, January 20, at 4 p. m.

Maroons Top Western 48-42; Drop Cape Girardeau 42-39

By Bob McDowell

Continuing a successful home stand, the "Junior Whiz Kids" have marked up two home games during the past week as they downed Western Teachers 48-42 last Saturday night and dropped Cape Girardeau 42-39 in a thriller the following Tuesday.

The Western Affairs, first conference meeting of the season for either squad, was one of the roughest affairs ever to be witnessed in the local gym, although the number of fouls called was not great.

Quentin Stinson was high point man in this contest with 11 points, followed by Johnny Sebastian, who had eight. Bill Will, lanky forward with a deformed arm, was the big gun for Western with nine points.

The Leathernecks, who had not been too impressive on paper, threw the local fans into panic when they took the lead, but the Maroons' second team took over the chore late in the last period and fought down to the final gun.

Cape Contest
The Cape Indians really threw a scare into the fans as they used a slow deliberate type of basketball, shooting only when they were sure of their shots, to build up a 20-14 lead in the first half, but the Maroons' pressing man-to-man defense soon broke this up. However, when at the 10-minute mark of the last half, the Indians had a 28-20 lead, the Southerners' cause seemed lost. Then Johnny Ruchich, substitute guard, put on a one-man show by scoring eight straight points to tie the score. Oliver Shoff, Stinson and Sebastian put on a rally that gave the Maroons the lead, which they never relinquished.

The Indians threatened in the final minute as Merrick flipped in a desperation shot from mid-floor that brought the score to 41-39, but again Ruchich stepped in to stem the tide with a free throw just before the whistle blew.

Everything Wrong
Everything seemed to go wrong in this game. First the clock stuck, then the referee's whistle wouldn't blow. The fans were exasperated by Herb T. Ball handler and free thrower, who led.

SINU Opponents

By DAVE KENNEY

The Oklahoma Aggies have been recognized in basketball circles as the country's number one college team. They have gained such an impressive record this season. However, that record suffered a blow last Friday when the St. Louis University Billikens took them into camp by a 38-20 score.

Aggie fans will be interested in comparing the Aggies' performance against the Billikens with that of Coach Lynn Holder's Maroons. In early season play, the Maroons dropped a very close decision to St. Louis by six points, 63 to 57.

While this doesn't mean, of course, that Southern has a better team than Oklahoma, it does mean she can hold her own in any competition in which she happens to find herself this season.

The Bill Ed McCauley was their key man as they trounced back the Aggies. This six foot eight inch shotmaker will be remembered as the man who poured 28 points through the hoop when his team topped Southern last month.

McCauley is evidently a valuable man to have around.

Hank Ha, well known Oklahoma coach, described St. Louis as the best defensive team he has seen all season, and he's seen the nation's best. And against that defense the Maroons tallied 27 points.

When the Maroons play the Illinois Intercollegiate Athletic Conference lead on the line tomorrow night, they will be pitted against the up-and-coming Charleston Panthers, whose record includes recent wins over Indiana State, Millikin of Decatur, and Illinois Normal. Charleston topped Indiana by nine points, 51 to 42, while the Maroons were hard pressed to eke out a 57-54 triumph over the same team. On the basis of those scores, Charleston appears to be a dangerous opponent. She took the measure of Illinois Normal in the last week, a clear cut decision which will rate the Maroons as superior to Normal in the event they turn back the Panthers tomorrow night.

The DeKalb Huskies went into a three way tie for the league lead last Tuesday night as they defeated Macomb 35 to 25. Since the Maroons won out over Macomb by a slim margin of six points, the Huskies appear to be powerful. Coach Holder's men are scheduled to meet the DeKalb squad here next Saturday night.

..Sport Shots..

By BOB McDOWELL

At basketball games this season, it has been the rule rather than the exception to have the visiting coaches violent and exaltant, which by the way, is their own business, and we certainly have no idea of reforming them. However, when the coaches verbally abuse the officials, it seems as though the time had come to mention it.

The official at any sporting game is a trained man who does not have any interest in the event except that the rules be followed and obeyed. We have heard many officials at basketball games come to the scorer's bench after a close game and ask who was the winner.

In many parts of the country, such abuse is not allowed by the officials, and a technical foul is called on the team whose member keeps after them.

Looking at the thing, it does not seem logical that anything is to be gained by berating the officials. The officials rarely change their decisions, and a coach that keeps after them will, whether the official realizes it or not, temporarily prejudice the decisions against himself. For example, when there is a close decision of whether a man was "charging" or whether he was "over-guarded," in the heat of the moment the official will be tempted to rule against the team whose coach has been "riding" him.

Of course, we don't mean that this is the rule, but rather we cited the example to show that the belligerent coach really has nothing to gain.

However, we suppose that there will always be plenty of men and things that are things to give the fans a thrill. At Southern,

W. A. A.

Women interested in bowling and table tennis should sign their names on the bulletin board in the women's gym. A tournament event will be drawn up, and the games will be played whenever basketball does not interfere.

Nightly women are out for basketball this season. Forty of these are freshmen. Margaret Kinsman, manager, has as her two freshmen assistants, Pat Patterson and Marie Kern. The freshmen will meet on Tuesday and Thursday, leaving Monday and Wednesday for the upperclassmen.

Eastern Here For Loop Lead Clash Saturday; Play Host To Millikin Monday Night

By Lewis Waters

Southern defeated Evansville 46-44 in a thriller last night at Evansville. Johnny Sebastian was high point man with 11 points. Oliver Shoff and Quentin Stinson each had eight.

Excellent rebounding by Stinson and a fancy passing attack gave Southern a 26-15 advantage at the half, but the Aces tied the score with a minute left in the game. Two free throws by Sebastian decided the tilt.

PAT'S CHATTER

One of the most attractive aspects of the women's physical education department is the W.A.A. organization. This group was formed on Southern's campus for the furthering of women's sports. Organizations of the same kind are in action on other campuses of our neighboring colleges. It has been the practice of the Southern group to act as host to women from these other schools once every year when the day is spent in playing competitive sports.

W.A.A. gives good sportmanship among its own members and other outside students in the form of seasonally organized tournaments.

After last week's item about excessive heat in the gymnasium on game nights, we were informed by the athletic director, "Abe" Martin, that there has never been any heat turned on in the gym, and that he has ordered for some time an exhaust fan that will draw the hot air from the building. We only hope that it arrives before many more of the class games like those we have seen so far are played.

ON THE PREP FRONT
Carbondale Community at Metropolis, Du Quoin at Murphysboro, Pinckneyville at Chester, Sparta at Anna-Jonesboro, Centralia at Marion, Lebanon at Fredburg, Carverville at University, High Attacks of Carbondale at Dushar of Madison, Benton at Mt. Vernon. All Friday games. Present rated top team in state, Kewanee, tackles Monmouth, also on Friday.

Our pet "babe of the week" is the clock in the men's gym. It seems to out-do itself in not working. Recently, it stopped during the game, and in the last home game, one of the numbers stuck, and the public address announcer had to keep the fans informed about the score. Finally, seeming to realize that it had caused enough trouble, it worked faithfully during the rest of the game.

Saturday night's basketball game between Eastern and Southern will decide who is to be the top team in the I.I.A.C. conference, at least for the present, as both teams have one victory and no defeats in league play. In comparison, Southern has defeated both Indiana State and Washington University, while Charleston has also played these two schools and has also beaten both of them. This game should be a high scoring match because both teams play the "fast break" type of basketball.

On Monday night, January 20, the Maroons are host to Millikin University here at Southern. Millikin was defeated by Charleston last week by only three points, thus, after Saturday night's game, fans can get some idea as to how the Maroons and the Big Blue compare.

The probable starting lineup in these games will be Oliver Shoff and Johnny Sebastian at forward, Quentin Stinson at center, and Gene Hall and Bob Colborn, or the other way around, at guard.

The woman who is an active member of this organization is indeed a busy one most of her school year.

This year the group is under the leadership of Evelyn Parker. President: Dolores Langdon, secretary.

Johnny Ruchich at guard, then here are a few facts. In 13 games, the Maroons have won nine and lost four. They have averaged approximately 44 points a game. Their opponents have averaged almost 47 points a game. The Maroons now have only five more home games. After Eastern and Millikin, they will play host to Northern on January 25, Chicago on February 2, and State Normal on February 21. According to Glenn "Abe" Martin, director of athletics, the schedule was averaged in this manner in order to work in the games with the larger schools. A preliminary game will get under way at 7 o'clock when the "B" squads will meet.
